EASTERN EUROPEAN SUB-REGIONAL ASSOCIATION OF SCHOOLS OF SOCIAL WORK

EEsrASSW was established to support the social work discipline, education, training, research and practice in Eastern Europe, through:

- Promoting the development of social work education and research in social work on all levels of post-secondary education in the region;
- Strengthening the status of schools of social work through mutual support of member schools in the region and internationally;
- Stimulating networking and exchange of educators, researchers and students regionally and internationally;
- Initiating and enhancing the development of study courses, curricula, trainings and research;
- Enhancing and sharing regional knowledge production relevant to the development of social work discipline, education and research;
- Representing the interests of Eastern European social work educators and researchers in the national and international bodies and contexts and increasing their visibility and participation;
- Promoting social justice, human rights, global standards and ethical principles in social work.
